Meetings Quest Returns For Another Year of Business, Education and Networking, All In One Day

WASHINGTON D.C. – HSMAI Meetings Quest, the only one-day hospitality trade show that occurs in eight cities nationwide, is returning for the 2005 Fall Series, providing both suppliers and meeting professionals with the most productive day away from the office.

After wrapping up another successful year, Meetings Quest is in full swing for 2005. Visiting eight cities this fall—Anaheim, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Minneapolis, St. Louis, and Washington D.C.—Meetings Quest's updated format includes a Meet & Greet breakfast, an educational seminar, an interactive networking lunch, exhibit time concluding with grand prize drawings, and our popular “Connections Reception”.

Meetings Quest offers a wide array of benefits for both exhibitors and meeting professionals. Exhibitors receive marketing materials such as attendee profiles, online exposure, a listing in the Meetings Industry Fall Series Guide and much more. Qualified meeting professionals are welcome to attend free of charge, and are offered the opportunity to earn CMP and CSEP credits.

“I always come away with new ideas, as well as new places to hold my meetings” says Carolyn Yoemans, of the Spring Air Company.

Among the many marketing avenues available today, face-to-face marketing is still one of the best and most valuable tools for future business. Meetings Quest trade show events have been intimately designed to offer the most productive one-on-one sales and networking time with prospective clients.
