Meetings Quest Offers Meeting Professionals the Chance to do a Month's Worth of Business All in One Day

While the warm weather will soon be fading and the summer months have almost come to an end, the Meetings Quest Fall Tradeshow Series is just beginning. With the first Meetings Quest show of the season less than eight weeks away, booth space is almost filled, attendee registrations are coming in at a rapid pace, and excitement is mounting.

The Meetings Quest Tradeshows offer qualified meeting professionals the chance to meet with a variety of suppliers, attend educational seminars and networking events, and earn credit towards certification, all in one day and free of charge.

Here are some of the things that exhibitors and attendees are saying about Meetings Quest:

- "The variety of the vendors and properties represented at Meetings Quest is terrific. I always discover someone new"
- "This is one of my favorite shows. The quality of your exhibitors fits my needs perfectly. Thank you for having the shows again this year."
- "I really enjoyed the extended networking provided. The format allowed me to network more closely with planners."

This one day hospitality event returns to eight cities this fall—Anaheim, Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Minneapolis, St. Louis, and Washington D.C., providing outstanding opportunities to explore new properties, visit exciting destinations, and discuss industry trends.
